New Appointment

September 21, 2020—Hong Kong Chiho Environmental Group (the “Company”) is pleased to announce that Mr. Daniel Huang will be joining the Company as Managing Director and COO for Greater China effective October 1, 2020. Daniel will be based in Beijing Office and will be responsible for all Chiho and Scholz operations in Greater China. He will report to the Group CEO Rafael Suchan and for operational topics to the Group COO Marc Breidenbach.

Daniel Huang (46) graduated with a Bachelor's degree in Dynamic-Mechanical Engineering from Shanghai Jiaotong University and holds an MBA degree from Antai School of Management at Shanghai Jiaotong University. In his previous career, he has worked at multi-national companies Bayer, Henkel, and Lanxess. Daniel has extensive experience as Managing Director for Greater China and Vice President for the Asia-Pacific region. In addition to running the business in China and Asia, Daniel previously also worked as General Manager in charge of operations and the construction, acquisition, and restructuring of production plants in China. In his responsibilities for supply chain and procurement, Daniel has gained more than 15 years of experience in the trade of ferrous scrap in China.

Commenting on Daniel's appointment, CEO of the Company, Mr. Rafael Suchan said, “We are delighted to welcome Mr. Huang as the Managing Director and COO for Greater China. His appointment will benefit us in enhancing the management of all our sites and new growth projects in Greater China.”
